Mother's grim discovery of her son's body at mass grave

THE body of six-year-old Jairo Ducusin, the son of former Princess Alexandra Hospital nurse Jeffrey Ducusin who was killed in the Philippines typhoon, has been found at a mass burial site.

Jairo's mother Joy, already grieving for her husband, broke down in tears when she discovered a bag containing the boy's body after it was recovered by rescue teams.

Jairo, who was a pupil at St Luke's Catholic Primary School in Pyenest Road, had been missing since the disaster struck 12 days ago. His father and grandmother had already been declared dead.

Mr and Mrs Ducusin worked as nurses at PAH and had lived in Harlow for 10 years but returned home to the Philippines two months ago. Jairo grew up speaking only English.

Mrs Ducusin, 37, who survived the storm that claimed more than 4,000 lives, identified her son from bodies sent to one of three mass burial sites in the country.

"For several days I kept on searching for him but now I have found him," she told reporters. "No words could really explain how painful it is."

This week Harlow residents rallied to support the town's Filipino community. Three rooms have been filled with donations which will be shipped to the worst affected areas in the coming weeks.

A charity concert and a quiz night have also been organised to raise money to help support the relief effort.

BuildAid, a Harlow-based family-run charity, has launched an appeal for funding to enable them to extend their ongoing aid programme to the displaced communities of the Philippines.

BuildAid works with the affected communities by volunteering professional construction services, funding employment and building materials to reconstruct or replace community buildings destroyed by the typhoon.

On Tuesday Mrs Ducusin sobbed as she spoke of how she and her husband had decided to move back to the Philippines to start a new life before the typhoon smashed into Tacloban City. "It was so quick," she told the Philippine national press. "All I remember was the water rising to the top of my house."

Jairo and his parents climbed onto the roof but were blown off by the 200mph winds of super typhoon Haiyan that struck on November 8.

Four arrested in park rape investigation

FOUR youths have been arrested on suspicion of rape in Harlow.

Police were contacted on Monday following reports that a teenage girl had been sexually assaulted in a park area near Commons Road and Maunds Hatch the previous evening.

On Tuesday police officers arrested the four teenagers on suspicion of rape.

All four have been released on bail until January pending further enquiries.

Lock-up haul of stolen goods

THOUSANDS of pounds worth of stolen goods have been recovered from a lock-up garage in Harlow.

Police investigating a series of burglaries that took place in rural areas of Essex, Hertfordshire and Cambridgeshire over the past seven months found more than 270 items including tools, push bikes, diving equipment, fishing tackle and gardening equipment at two garages - one in Harlow and the other in Surrey.

Four people, including a 37-year-old man from Harlow - were arrested earlier this month in connection with the police investigation - and are currently on bail.

Spurs stars to appear at shop

SPURS fans will get the chance to meet striker Emmanuel Adebayor and French international midfielder Etienne Capoue when they visit the club shop in the Harvey Centre tomorrow (Friday).

The players will take part in a special signing session between 3-4pm.

A limit of two items per person are allowed for autographs and the signing session will be limited to the first 200 people.

Community rallies together to help typhoon victims

Mrs Ducusin said she had scoured the debris left by the flood for days in the desperate hope of finding her son. "One of my neighbours sent me a text message saying that they had found a boy, like six years old with the green shirt and the stuffed toy," she told GMA News.

"My baby loves the stuffed toy so much because when he was born, even in the hospital, he got that stuffed toy. He called it Coco."

On Tuesday St Luke's Catholic Primary School paid tribute to the family. Ann-Marie McCann, executive headteacher, told journalists: "The family were very popular and very well-known in the area. It is awfully sad news."

A CONCERT and a quiz night have been organised to raise money for the Philippine relief effort.

Harlow Rocks! will be held at the PAH Social Club at 6pm tomorrow (Friday). Tickets are available on the door and amateur acts from the Filipino community will perform. Donations of clothing and cash can also be made on the night.

A quiz night in memory of Jeffrey Ducusin will be held at Colt Hatch Social Club on December 5.

800 households are hit by bedroom tax

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

MORE than 800 households in Harlow are losing up to £800 a year as a result of the so-called 'bedroom tax', official figures have revealed.

The controversial welfare reform sees housing benefit cut if someone living in social housing is deemed to have an extra bedroom in their property.

Housing associations, opposition politicians and charities have all condemned the under-occupancy penalty, which they say penalises the most vulnerable people in society.

The Government argues the spare room subsidy will encourage people with additional rooms to move to a smaller property.

According to a recent National Housing Federation survey, some 801 Harlow households have been ruled to have spare bedrooms and these tenants, on average, have seen their benefit cut by £831.12 per year.

The worst affected districts in the east of England are Norwich with 2,908 households, losing on average £699.58 as a result of the bedroom tax and Basildon with 1,630 households, losing around £830.88.

Parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride criticised Harlow MP Robert Halfon for missing a debate on the bedroom tax last Tuesday which gave MPs the chance to vote to repeal housing benefit cuts for claimants with a spare bedroom.

Ritchie to sing for Wembley crowd

A HARLOW man will be singing in front of 80,000 people at the Rugby League World Cup semi-final at Wembley Stadium on Saturday.

Ritchie Parrott, 44, of Moorfield, was a gamesmaker at the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games and joined the Gamesmaker Choir.

Since then he has sung with the choir at Help For Heroes Hero Ride and Join

In at The Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park.

Ritchie, an administrator at Princess Alexandra Hospital, said: "Being in the choir means so much to me because it means I get to keep the Olympic spirit alive."

"I've not been to the new Wembley Stadium so I'm thrilled to be going out on to the pitch to soak up the atmosphere of the crowd."

Miss Stride said: "The vote gave MPs a chance to show where they stand and vote to repeal this unjust and unworkable policy. Robert Halfon showed where his priorities lie by not even turning up for the vote."

However Mr Halfon said: "This debate was about the Labour Party playing politics rather than looking for a real solution."

"The average working person in Harlow pays £1,200 from their taxes on benefits. The Government is right to deal with the problem of overcrowding and ensure that lower earners are not hit unfairly by paying for people to have bigger houses than they have.

"Finally, there is no such thing as a bedroom tax. A tax is a bill you receive from HMRC. The Labour Party know this as they introduced the single room supplement."

Councillor Rod Truan, Harlow Council's cabinet portfolio holder for housing, said: "We don't agree with the Government's housing benefit changes and recognise how this has made it difficult for many residents."

"We want to help tenants affected to find ways to make finances more manageable by offering advice and support on coping with the changes."

Waiting for buses denies me precious time with my baby

SIR, I commute to London on a daily basis and I have lived at Church Langley on and off for eight years.

During this time the bus service provided by Arriva Buses has steadily declined, especially when the service provided by SM Coaches ceased to operate in the Church Langley area a couple of years ago.

Having just returned to work following time off for maternity leave, I am finding the appalling service more frustrating than ever.

I have been back at work for seven weeks and on 12 occasions so far I and other commuters have been left standing at Harlow Town station waiting for buses that simply do not turn up. On three occasions three scheduled buses in a row did not arrive and I have had to take a taxi twice just to ensure that I arrive home in time to put my daughter to bed.

This is not acceptable. Having to return to work following the birth of my baby has been hard enough without Arriva Buses denying me the opportunity to spend precious time with her in the evening. If the buses ran on time I should have an hour with her each evening but I can count on one hand the amount of times I have had this full hour with her.

I have paid for a yearly ticket and when there is a schedule in place I expect the buses to run to this timetable. I understand that on occasions there are unforeseeable circumstances that may prevent this but not on a daily basis.

Elizabeth Dearman
Malkin Dribe, Harlow

Service to passengers is now less than impressive

SIR, When did Harlow lose its bus service? Maybe it's because I'm old enough to remember the town bus service pre-privatisation when we only had one bus provider, but I miss the days when customers could expect a scheduled service that extended throughout the town.

In today's commercial world I've found that what a traveller should expect from bus service providers can be sadly less than impressive.

I visited the town centre information kiosk to gain information on all buses travelling to Pinnacles. I knew that the number 5 bus offers a limited run during the rush-hour only, but I found that the travel advisor was unable to give any more information than that provided by the national internet website as she "didn't know Harlow".

So on Monday, October 11 I set out for Pinnacles as much in hope as based on a known schedule but was pleased to find a number 5 bus at the terminal at around 8am. However, I was dismayed to hear the driver of the bus give a one-word answer of 'no' to an enquiry by a traveller at Harlow Town Station as to whether the number 5 bus went to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Instead of saying that he could drop her

THIS photo of a Harlow sunset was taken by 10-year-old Chloe-Marie Bono in the back garden of her home in Canons Brook last Wednesday. It was sent in by her mum, Charlotte.

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Please remember to include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

within a five minute walk to PAH or that the number 5 bus would take her to PAH after the rush hour, he left her with the worst possible result of her inquiry. Either she would have had to wait for another hour before a number 5 bus would take her to PAH or, presumably, she would believe that no number 5 bus would ever take her to PAH.

If passengers can't trust, or gain, current relevant information then why should providers think their jobs are safe? Is it because there are so many of us who don't own cars that we are forced to use buses?

Let's consider that a poor attitude by a provider of a service often results in a poor attitude by the user and inevitably the user seeks alternative arrangements for getting to their destination.

Elaine McCarthy
Great Plumtree, Harlow

Why are there no buses to Tesco in Edinburgh Way?

SIR, Can someone tell me why the number 8 bus has been stopped from serving Tesco in Edinburgh Way?

If you are a pensioner like me who doesn't drive there is no way now from getting to Tesco or to any other store in Edinburgh Way.

The bus planners in Harlow just do not have a clue how to run a bus service. Edinburgh Way with all its big stores is not served by any bus route.

CAB showed no loyalty to HWRA in its hour of need

SIR, In response to the letter from Tiziana Groom, operational manager of the Harlow Citizens Advice Bureau (Star, November 14), we would like to express our disappointment in the way the CAB has given support to Harlow Council in the winding up of Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice service.

In the court case the judge, when confirming the winding up order, expressed his sorrow at the loss of another advice service, especially at a time when legal aid is being cut. He also said: "The council could use discretion and did not have to apply for a winding up order."

The CAB is now preparing to take on the work which in the past was down by HWRA, bearing in mind that staff who were employed by HWRA have been made redundant.

In the past, some clients were referred from the CAB to HWRA, so this would imply that CAB had a high regard for the work carried out by HWRA. It is, therefore, surprising to hear that there has been no loyalty shown to HWRA by the CAB in its hour of need.

I hope new council homes go to people born here

SIR, I was delighted to read the council is finally thinking about us folk who have been waiting on the housing list for years.

Anybody who objected these plans obviously does not have an ounce of compassion or empathy. Imagine never having your own place to reside in. The people opposed to this obviously have not had to fight the system and beg the council for a place like I have.

If only people would open their hearts and realise how hard it is to pay rent on a one-bed bedsit/flat on minimum wage. It is not possible. Therefore we need more council housing for people like me who are not privileged.

I am third generation Harlow. My grandparents moved here in the 1950s yet I still have to live with my parents due to not being able to afford rent in rented accommodation. This is why I am pleased there are more council properties being built for people like myself, who have not cheated the system.

We need it to be like the 1960s when everyone had jobs and people had affordable housing. I can finally see light at the end of the tunnel as far as housing in this town is concerned. Let's just hope it is people like myself who have been faithful and loyal to this town, who were born here over 40 years ago, who get first choice.

Pleased fireworks event was held on the right date

SIR, I refer to Mike Danvers' letter about the November 5 fireworks in Old Harlow (Star, November 14).

I was pleased to read that Craig Mechan and Pete Cody held their event on the correct date rather than switching it to the nearest Saturday or Sunday.

I trust their St Valentine's Day party will be called just that, taking place on Friday, February 14 rather than being called a St Valentine's weekend over the Saturday/Sunday.

Caring PAH staff made our loss a little more bearable

SIR, I would like, through the Star, to say a huge thank you to all the staff on Harvey Ward at Princess Alexandra Hospital who cared for my mother during the last few weeks of her life. They treated her with compassion, respect and dignity whilst she was in their care.

In an age where some hospitals are falling well below standards especially for the elderly, my family felt that mum was being well cared for even though the outcome was inevitable. It made our loss a little more bearable.

County crime tsar to hold public meeting in Harlow

ESSEX police and crime commissioner Nick Alston will be holding a public meeting in Harlow next week to discuss crime and policing issues.

Mr Alston is planning to hold a public meeting in every district of the county twice a year, working alongside colleagues from Essex Police, community safety partnerships, district and unitary councils, partner organisations and the voluntary sector.

"It is important that crime continues to fall in Essex, that we have fewer victims of crime and fewer people living in fear of crime," he said.

"I am committed to the principle of local solutions for local problems and to ensuring that police, partner agencies, the voluntary sector and residents work together as closely as possible to keep our communities safe.

"I want your views to be part of the debate about how we can best keep the streets of Essex safe."

The meeting takes place on Wednesday at the Civic Centre in the Water Gardens at 5.30pm.

Cash talks hold up health centre plan

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COUNCIL chiefs have denied reports that the redevelopment of Lister Medical Centre in Harlow has stalled.

Plans for a 20,000 patient surgery, pharmacy and community health clinic in Abercrombie Way to replace the Lister Medical Centre at Staple Tye were approved last month.

But the Harlow Health Centres Trust will now have to resubmit the application due to delays over the land sale and how much financial contribution it will pay to lessen the impact of the development.

Cllr Phil Waite, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for environment, said: "The new Lister House development has not stalled.

"Negotiations on the section 106 agreement and land sale are continuing but have taken longer than first anticipated so the planning application has run out of the 13-week timescale for completion set by the Government.

"This does sometimes happen where there is a large scale development and complex legal agreements to negotiate.

"However we are confident that the negotiations will be completed shortly so the planning application can be resubmitted to the Council for determination."

The Harlow Health Centres Trust is pushing for a replacement to the Lister Medical Centre at Staple Tye.

It has been working with stakeholder doctors and dentists, West Essex PCT and NHS England for four years on developing the brief and design of the scheme

Plans for the two-storey building, which were submitted by CAMM Architects, also feature a new crossover for vehicle access, a new car park, games area, landscaping and footpaths.

The building has been designed to allow easy access to consulting areas and to make the most of natural lighting and ventilation.

It would be located on a site across from Lister House and adjacent to the Great Parndon Community Association.

Residents hit out at the move which they say is against the council's planning policies which sets out to protect the town's green wedges against "inappropriate development".

The Star contacted HHCT for a comment but had not received a response by the time we went to press.

Carer to face trial for theft

A HARLOW woman accused of stealing money from the woman she was looking after is to face trial for theft.

Carer Jennifer Edgell, 46, of Copshall Close, pleaded not guilty when she appeared at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday charged with theft from her employer Joyce Flett between October 25, 2011 and November 29, 2012.

Judge Christopher Ball QC remanded Edgell on bail until her trial in January.

Drugs seized in police raid

POLICE have seized over two kilos of cannabis following a raid on a Harlow flat.

Detectives found two-and-a-half kilos of cannabis after a raid on a Torkildsen Way flat on Sunday, November 11.

Police Sergeant Rob Cox, of the Harlow Neighbourhood Policing Team, said: "One entire room had been turned into a cannabis-growing area with an abundance of lighting and plant-growing equipment. This has now been destroyed.

"Essex Police has a robust policy on 'home-made' cannabis farms. We will take the equipment being used for growing drugs and either destroy it immediately or seek a court order to do so."

SCHOOLS, businesses and individuals across Harlow did their bit to raise money for Children in Need by wearing pyjamas, baking cakes, dressing up and hosting games.

Pupils and staff at Milwards Primary School and Nursery, in Paringdon Road, paid £1 to dress up in their favourite bedwear and onesies, while some had their faces painted like Children in Need mascot Pudsey Bear.

Parents and grandparents were invited to join in the fundraising activities at Blossoms Nursery, at Thornwood Common. They were treated to bacon sandwiches, toast, biscuits, cakes, tea and coffee.

Children and staff also dressed up in their pyjamas and took part in various Children in Need themed games and activities.

Nursery manager Bobbi Chana said: "It's been a fantastic day. Everyone enjoyed their yummy breakfast and we had fun wearing our pjs. Our wonderful parents helped by making cakes for our cake sale and we should have raised a really good amount for Children in Need."

BOOTS in Broad Walk

put the fun in fundraising

Pear Tree Mead Primary and Nursery School went one step further and held activities throughout the week.

Teachers took part in various endurance challenges and on Friday pupils and staff wore pyjamas. A cake sale and the opportunity to design a Pudsey bandana helped to boost the school's fundraising total.

Students and staff at Harlow College also joined in the fun.

Vocational IT students raised money by holding a table tennis session with staff duels, a mini tournaments and games of round the clock.

Students studying child care and learning development raised more than £500 by selling homemade cakes, samosas and onion bhajis as well as dressing up in onesies and as their favourite Disney characters.

Students on vocational business, sports & health and social care courses also wore their onesies and pyjamas and raised more than £150.

Three members of staff at the Boots store in Broad Walk - Sarah Short, Sharon Mason and Sue Berg - took turns to sit in a bath filled with frozen peas for a six-hour marathon challenge. They raised £1,270.

Shop manager Angela Upton said: "Everyone has been really generous. Peas.Org, Ardo UK and J&D Refrigerated Couriers helped supply and deliver all the peas for our bathtub which was donated by Essex Bathroom and Kitchen Showroom.

"The staff and customers have also been fantastic. We had a raffle and tombola as well as cakes with all the money going to Children in Need. It was great."

Pudsey spent the day with staff from the Greggs bakery shop in Broad Walk. They visited the children in Dolphin Ward at Princess Alexandra Hospital for photos and a chat.

A Greggs spokesman said: "The visit went really well and everyone had a lovely time. The nurses were great and the kids all loved meeting Pudsey."

Greggs staff, armed with buckets and dressed up as children's book characters, also joined Pudsey outside the shop to collect change from passing shoppers.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Charity banks on donations to meet demand for food

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Foodbank has been steadily growing in size and work load since they opened in April 2009.

The charity, which distributes emergency food parcels that can feed an individual or family in need for up to three days, has fed more than 9,000 people - 6,139 adults and 3,071 children.

Since February Harlow's surrounding towns and villages have also been able to benefit from the charity's work.

Gary Knott, director of community services said: "Since April we have had a huge increase in demand. It's difficult to put our finger on an exact reason, especially since we've increased the areas we serve, but the welfare changes have definitely made an impact and there's an ever-growing demand."

"We work with police and a number of other organisations to make sure the people in need of emergency food have access to it. The Harlow Foodbank is all about partnership."

Duncan Craig, who volunteers at the foodbank, added: "We have lots of different people who come in needing our help and we try to make a difficult situation easier.

"We try to make it feel like a shopping trip of some kind rather than people receiving a food handout."

The charity has also brought in a new addition to their food parcels with fresh fruit and vegetables.

"The fresh food has gone down really well, and people are just really grateful to pick out a few pieces of fresh produce that's grown from Harlow allotments," said Duncan.

"We have lots of people come in and it's always for a number of different reasons like benefit changes, or recently losing a job, pay being frozen or even being homeless."

One resident, who used the foodbank and left feedback with the charity, said: "I would like to say a massive thank you for your generosity and kindness. I feel very blessed. You are helping to make sadness and misery a little bit brighter. Thank you."

Gary said: "We have a great team and fantastic volunteers. It's about helping people who need it."

Duncan added: "The way I see the Harlow Foodbank is a bridge from depression to hope."

Postcard auction pockets cash for charity

THE Gatehouse Arts gallery held its second successful secret postcard auction which raised more than £600 for two charities.

More than 50 people visited the gallery's shop in East Gate to bid for anonymous postcard-sized artworks which went under the hammer to raise money for St Clare Hospice and the Association for Cultural Advancement through Visual Art.

Hundreds of individuals submitted their own pieces of mini-artwork - with entries arriving from as far afield as Manchester, Austria and Arizona.

The evening was hosted by artist Kien Voong dressed as a penguin. Harlow MP

Robert Halfon started the auction by selling the first postcard He also made his bids of his own.

Claire Jones, of Gatehouse Arts, said: "I think it was a really fun night. There was a really good atmosphere and we were very pleased with everything."

"We raised just over £600 which is amazing since we didn't have as many postcards in this year's auction. The artwork was incredible and of a really high quality. It was a great night."

Tattoo artist thought girls were over 18

A HARLOW tattooist has been fined a total of £200 and ordered to pay £645 costs after being convicted of tattooing two youngsters under the age of 18.

One 15-year-old teenager had a small tattoo on her neck while a 16-year-old had one on her hand at the La Geisha studio in East Walk.

Tattooist Olga Clear, 29, was found guilty of two offences committed on December 2 and March 27. She denied the charges and said both girls looked as though they were over the age of 18.

She told Harlow Magistrates' Court on Wednesday last week that there was a notice at the studio telling clients and would-be clients that they must be 18 for a tattoo.

Clear said that her husband Pete, who owns the shop, acted as receptionist, checked the ages of customers and did the paperwork.

Mr Clear said that he had to verify ages and get customers to fill in consent forms which detail any medical conditions.

He said the first girl's manner-

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

isms and dress left him in no doubt that she was 18.

And he told the court that the second one seemed a "young woman" and even haggled the price.

"I had no reason to believe she was under 18," he added.

The girls told magistrates they were aware they had to be over 18 to have a tattoo.

The older girl, who claimed she was not asked to fill in paperwork, said: "The man asked if I was 18 and I said 'yeah'."

Joe Bird, prosecuting, said it was the duty of the person who "puts the needle in the skin" to verify ages.

Chairman of the bench Jenny Spalding said the system in place for checking ages was "inadequate" but added: "The girls do have some culpability because they lied."

Clear said after being convicted she was going to consider an appeal.

Homework club saved for a year

HARLOW Homework Club has been saved for another year after an intervention by Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

It was feared the club, which runs during after-school sessions in Harlow Central Library, would have to close when funding stopped at the end of current financial year.

But following talks between Mr Halfon and county councillor John Jowers, County Hall has confirmed that for the 2014/15 financial year a £2,250 grant and money from ECC's Community Initiatives Response Fund will plug the £8,000 funding gap.

Mr Halfon said: "I am delighted that the club's future has been secured until 2015 and I would like to thank Cllr Jowers for recognising its importance in Harlow and doing everything he could to keep it open."

"I would also like to pay tribute to the staff who do a fantastic job and are making a real difference to children's lives in Harlow."

Hospice seeks votes to win £50k cashpot

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ST Clare Hospice needs the community's help to transform an unloved part of its garden into a tranquil oasis for patients and their families.

The Hastingwood-based charity is a finalist in ITV's People's Millions competition to win £50,000, but it will need the support of the community to secure the vital funding.

The hospice will appear on the show on Wednesday and will be up against another Essex-based charity.

The public will decide which community initiative will receive its funding.

The cash will pay for the 'Space to Breathe - A Family Garden' project.

St Clare will transform a currently unkempt and over-shadowed area adjacent to the Inpatient Unit into a calming space that maximises the healing power of nature.

It will be wheelchair-friendly and staff will also be able to wheel patients out into the fresh air in their beds.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said: "St Clare Hospice provides very important support to individuals affected by terminal illnesses and their families.

"Through the excellent care and assistance they provide they make sure that nobody is left facing such a terrible experience alone."

"I encourage all Harlow people to vote for St Clare in the People's Millions and help them in their work."

St Clare chief executive Tanya Curry said: "The project has been on the hospice wishlist for a long time."

"We would really love to be able to provide this very special haven for our patients and their loved ones to spend quality time together and make memories that they will always cherish."

The phone number for people to vote for St Clare will not be released until the day, with phone lines open from 9am until midnight.

NEWS IN BRIEF

'Bury threat' teacher to return

A HARLOW primary school teacher who was suspended after parents complained she had threatened to "bury children in the woods" if they did not keep quiet will return to work.

Following an investigation by the Academy Transformation Trust, the teacher will now return to Kingsmoor Academy in Ployters Road.

A trust spokeswoman said: "Appropriate action has been taken and the teacher concerned will be returning to the academy shortly. We will be contacting the relevant parents to inform them of the investigation outcomes and any affect it may have."

The new store shoppers will either love or loathe

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MOTHER and daughter have teamed up to open a boutique clothes shop in Harlow.

Justine Holland, 43, and her daughter Maisie Woolley, 21, recently opened Uniche in the Harvey Centre. And the pair who both live in Epping, say shoppers will either love or loathe the store.

Mrs Holland, who works at the store three days a week, said: "There isn't anyone like us here. People will either love us or loathe us."

The store is the first the pair have opened together. Miss Woolley has always wanted her own shop.

The boutique shop has some famous clients including cast members of The Only Way is Essex.

The store also stocks items from the ranges of former TOWIE star Amy Childs and current cast member Gemma Collins.

Products from the shop were also featured in the recent episode of the ITV1 show filmed in the Harvey Centre.

Mrs Holland added: "We're quite selective with what we buy. Uniche means unusual in Italian so that represents the way we stock the shop - one-off unusual items."

Fitness scheme helps to bring community together

A NEW fitness regime that promises to bring people together over an intense programme has been launched in Harlow.

Sales trainer wins award

PITNEY Bowes sales trainer Ray Cleghorn has been named telesales executive of the year at the National Sales Awards.

It was the second year running that the Harlow-based firm had won and the third year running that the communications expert has had its employees shortlisted in the finals.

The judges were impressed with Mr Cleghorn's work and praised him as an "outstanding" telesales executive.

Fiona Gore, head of European training at Pitney Bowes, said: "Having nine finalists at the awards is in itself, a tremendous achievement for Pitney Bowes. We're investing a huge amount of resources into our new Sales Academy in Langlands House - which opened in July this year - so it's fantastic to see all the hard work paying off."

3 Darths Comics will open the doors to its new store in Little Walk next Saturday (November 30).

Costumed characters from the UK 501st Garrison will be at the event as will Darth Vader and C-3PO.

Start-up is sweet music for Joseph

A YOUNG businessman from Harlow is among 10,000 entrepreneurs who have taken advantage of a Government Start-Up Loan to set them on their way.

Joseph Musa, of Brockles Mead, runs the music consultancy company Ruff Child Music Group, which he started more than a year ago. He was awarded a Start-Up Loan in September.

He said: "It has been great and came at a time when we really needed it to expand and fund some projects that we really wanted to get off the ground. The loan made it possible."

"With the money we managed to get a licence for a studio that we can use for the next eight months and because of that we managed to get other music clients involved."

"Things have been very exciting within the business and getting a Start-Up Loan was probably one of the best things I ever did."

The 25-year-old added: "It was more than getting the money, but the things we learnt from the delivery partners that made it so good. I would recommend any young business owners to take advantage of it."

Start-Up Loans provides support for entrepreneurs across the UK by providing a repayable loan and a business mentor.

Yesterday (Wednesday) the Government

BIANCA CASTRO

announced it was about to make its 10,000th loan to a new business.

Prime Minister David Cameron said: "Last year I launched Start-Up Loans. This is a Conservative policy which is exactly what it says on the tin - money to help people start up their own business and get on in life."

"This week we reached a big milestone: the 10,000th loan has been processed."

He added: "Start-Up Loans are helping budding entrepreneurs across our country achieve their dreams. It's not easy starting out on your own nowadays and that's especially true when it comes to getting a loan."

"Unemployment in the East of England is down by 15,000 since the election but the number is still far too high and we need to get more people into work. There's no better way to do that than to back entrepreneurship."

"New businesses are the lifeblood of a healthy, expanding economy: a symbol of aspiration and a source of jobs."

"It's a principle that's been woven into the Conservative heart for years."

Former classmates turn back time at school reunion

MORE than 100 people took a trip down memory lane when Harlow Fields School and College hosted its first reunion.

Past and present students and staff from The Mead, Tye Green and Commonsidge schools turned back the clock to share memories of their schooldays with former colleagues and classmates. The honour of cutting the cake was given to the oldest former pupil to attend the reunion, 64-year-old Sandra Old who originally attended The Mead School.

Harlow Fields headteacher Sue Davies said: "The hall was buzzing with chatter and laughter from people who in some cases hadn't seen each other for more than 20 years."

"Many ex-pupils, now in their 30s and 40s, looked back on good times in the school's swimming pool, horse riding, dancing and riding the blue bikes in the playground. The happiest memories from their school days, though, were of seeing their friends."

"There was a slideshow of old photos and an opportunity to have individual and group photos taken throughout the evening. It was such a success that everyone was asking when the next one is going to be."

College wins national award for innovation in further education

HARLOW College has been awarded a national award for innovation.

Matthew Hancock, the Government's minister for skills and enterprise, announced at the Association of College's annual conference on Tuesday the college had won the AoC's Beacon Award for innovation in further education.

Assessors said the college's innovative teaching and learning strategy focused on the individual needs of learners and praised the "open and honest relationship between learners and staff which fosters accountability and responsibility".

It is the second Beacon Award for the college following last year's success when it won for its outstanding leadership of improvement.

Principal Karen Spencer said: "We are delighted to have won a second AoC Beacon Award, this time for innovation in further education for our teaching, learning and assessment strategy."

"It is a real testament to our team spirit and how our staff use their creativity to ensure students are genuinely at the heart of the college and are equipped with the confidence and skills for their next steps in life."

The college will be presented with its award by Mr Hancock at a ceremony in February.

Charlotte Bosworth, director of skills and employment for award sponsor OCR, said: "Harlow College has abandoned a rigid 'top down' model for planning teaching and learning. Instead, they introduced a flexible 'bottom up' model which is benefitting students and staff alike and could be rolled out to transform teaching and learning in other colleges."

Changes to PAH access due to work

BUILDING work to create a new ward to cope with an increase in patients during winter is moving ahead.

A planned change to the main hospital entrance is now going to be implemented on Monday, a week ahead of schedule.

Visitors will still be able to access the main entrance by vehicle and on foot but there will be a road and path diversion round the new ward building site.

The diversion applies to people using the main vehicular access road to the hospital. The works will create a 20-bed temporary winter ward to cope with increasing demand.

Author creates world's longest paper doll chain

CHILDREN'S author and former children's laureate Julia Donaldson has broken the world record for the longest chain of paper dolls.

London's South Bank Centre was filled with paper dolls for the longest chain of paper dolls laid out with hands and feet touching.

With the help of her publisher, Macmillan Children's Books, 50 volunteers and fans from around the world submitted tens of thousands of hand-designed dolls over the summer, 45,282 paper dolls were laid out precisely until a chain measuring 4549.7m had been achieved, smashing the previous record of 2683.21m.

The event was to mark the paperback publication of Donaldson's latest book, Paper Dolls, illustrated by Rebecca Cobb. Macmillan Children's Books is donating 10p for each doll submitted to Save the Children.

We're doing all we can to keep Harlow a great place to live...

KEEPING Harlow clean and green is one of the council's top priorities. It is an important part of meeting our aim to improve the town for everyone.

Now the grass-cutting season has ended work restarts on our town-wide hedge maintenance programme. This two-year programme, which started last autumn, will see overgrown shrubs, bushes and hedges cut back in residential areas.

It will keep footpaths clear and help with picking up litter and removing rubbish. This programme is part of a number of measures in the council plans to keep the town looking green and attractive.

We are also working hard to keep Harlow tidy by picking up litter and dumped rubbish quickly. If people didn't drop litter or dump rubbish we wouldn't have to spend so much money on keeping the streets clean.

We spend near to £2m a year on street cleaning. Put simply, if people didn't drop litter - including cigarette butts - some of this money could be put to better use protecting services that are under threat from the financial challenges that lie ahead.

Harlow is a great place to live and to work and the council will do all that it can to protect front-line services, but it is getting ever more difficult.

Like all other councils the money it receives from Government will continue to fall and the council has to live within its means. It will have to make some difficult choices again next year as it sets its budgets.

The council remains committed, however, to working with the community and its partners to make Harlow an even better place to live and work.

NOSTALGIA

Touching base with the Hustlers' coach

OVER the years a variety of sports have been played in Harlow. And this week Nostalgia has been sent a photograph of a baseball team who played in Harlow during the 1960s.

The Harlow Hustlers were coached by Valentine Hennig, the first pastor of the Redeemer Lutheran Church in Bush Fair more than 50 years ago.

Pastor Hennig, who is now 82-years-old, moved back to Canada with wife Frieda and their three children in 1969 but he will be returning to Harlow next month.

Church member Sue Barnes, who along with treasurer Jan Morby is organising a tea-and-chat get-together with the pastor during his visit, sent in the photograph of the Harlow Hustlers. Pastor Hennig is pictured far right.

Mrs Morby said: "In 1959

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

he came over from Canada with Frieda and son Paul to be the first pastor at the new Lutheran church in Harlow which was a wooden hut on the green next to Bush Fair shopping centre.

"Pastor Hennig spent some time teaching at Brays Grove School in the 1960s while Frieda was a nurse at PAH.

"Before they returned to Canada they saw the building of the new church. The white brick building, which is there on the same site today, was opened in 1967."

Ms Barnes' brother John Alston was a member of the Harlow Hustlers team.

She said: "It will be 50 years ago next year there was a baseball team called the Harlow Hustlers in the town."

"My brother played with them and they were successful. The photograph of the team was taken in 1966."

Pastor Hennig will be visiting the church on Wednesday, December 4 from 2.30-4.30pm for refreshments and a chat with visitors and members of the church. Before that there will be an advent service from 1.15-2.15pm.

Anyone wishing to attend should contact Jan on (01279) 491522 or Sue on (01279) 411424.

Youth band performing as bold as brass

THE Netteswell School and Youth Bands - was started by an enthusiastic group of boys with a small number of instruments in the late 1950s.

The group acquired new instruments through fundraisers and donations and formed a brass band.

In 1963 the school was offered £3,500 worth of instruments by Harlow Urban District Council in return for the formation of a youth band which would play four public concerts - two paid, two free - every year for eight years.

It went on to win many competitions, often competing against adult bands, and was also featured on radio and television.

The town's brass tradition is still going strong with Harlow Brass Band, who rehearse weekly and are always looking for new members to entertain with live performances. To find out more about Harlow Brass Band visit www.harlowbrassband.co.uk.

WIN Tickets to two West End shows

ANYONE with an interest in 1960s politics cannot fail to have heard of the Profumo scandal.

Stephen Ward was a friend to film stars, spies, models, government ministers and aristocrats. His rise and ultimate disgrace coincided with the increasingly permissive lifestyle of London's elite in the swinging sixties.

Written by Andrew Lloyd Webber, Christopher Hampton and Don Black and directed by Richard Eyre, this musical centres on Ward's involvement with the young and beautiful Christine Keeler and their chance meeting in a West End night club which led to one of the biggest political scandals and most famous trials of the 20th century.

This week we have five pairs of top price tickets to give away to see this fantastic show at the Aldwych Theatre.

For a chance to win a pair of tickets, answer this simple question:

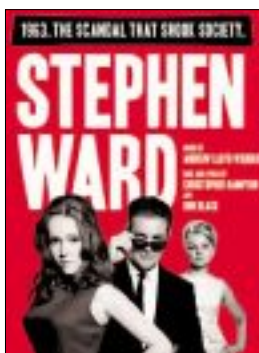

Who is the director of Stephen Ward?

You can email your answer to competitions@hertsessexnews.co.uk making sure you put 'Star Stephen Ward' in the subject line.

Alternatively, enter online at www.harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure and follow the entry instructions.

THE National Theatre's award-winning comedy One Man, Two Guvvners has now been seen by more than two million people worldwide.

Now booking until March 2014, this internationally acclaimed smash-hit is a glorious celebration of British comedy – a unique, laugh-out-loud mix of satire, songs, slapstick and glittering one-liners.

Owain Arthur returns to the role as Francis Henshall following a sell-out international tour.

Fired from his skiffle band, Henshall becomes minder to Roscoe Crabbe. But Roscoe is really Rachel, posing as her own dead brother – who's been killed by her boyfriend Stanley Stubbers.

Francis spots the chance of an extra meal ticket and takes a job with one Stanley Stubbers. But to prevent discovery, he must keep his two guvners apart. Simple.

Directed by Nick Hytner and written by Richard Bean, One Man, Two Guvvners is based on The Servant of Two Masters by Carlo Goldoni, with songs by Grant Olding.

Stepping back in time to the gold old days

Full of Joys

Moot House Players
Moot House, The Stow

IT'S more than a century since the English music hall was at its height, but this well-worn and familiar brand of entertainment still has the power to attract and enthral audiences.

Moot House Players last staged Full of Joys back in the 1990s and this revival was like bumping into an old friend after many years apart – warmly nostalgic, familiar and comfortably predictable.

As one who grew up watching The Good Old Days on BBC television, I felt the years slip away as the multi-talented cast took to the stage with enthusiasm and energy. Under the bravura leadership of Michael Branwell, the performers delivered a programme of song, dance and comedy across "three halves" – the middle "half" consisting of a suitably corny Victorian melodrama.

The Great Whortlebury Race concerned a devious businessman's dastardly plan to stop railway expansion and, unsurprisingly, involved innocent young Yvonne (Kerry Rowland) being tied to the railway track by the evil Obadiah Beeching (Robbie Chittick). Naturally, hero Ken (Dan Powell) saved the day and won the girl.

On the musical side there were amusing period songs delightfully sung by harmony duo Lynne Heraud and Pat Turner. Heather Bygrave delivered some saucy cockney numbers in an appropriately cheeky style while Jon McNamara had the audience singing along with the chorus to perennial favourite I'm Henry the Eighth. Jennifer Southwell had everyone chuckling with Nellie Wallace's lovelorn ditty Under The Bed while bass-baritone James Miller drew resounding cheers with his beautiful rendition of Old Man River.

There were a few fluffed lines and late entrances but nothing could spoil the enjoyment. The audience seized every opportunity to join in with the company's sing-along choruses while piano accompanists Christopher Redman and Jennifer Newburn kept everything jogging along at a good pace.

There was some sure-footed clog dancing from Glynis Cheers and Hilary McNamara while director Geoff Leeds and his wife Jacqui raised laughs with a comic song about a pair of hisping lovers.

And while a railway disaster might not seem the subject for levity, Edinburgh poet William Topaz McGonagall's execrable ode The Tay Bridge Disaster was recited in suitably melodramatic style by the Players' resident Scotsman, Robbie Chittick.

Dan Powell, ably assisted by Auntie (Henrietta Branwell) delivered a series of truly excruciating jokes, but what did it matter? The audience expected the groan-worthy punchlines and were ready to laugh in any case.

And this was the whole point of the show. It was corny; it was old hat – but that's what the audience expected, that's what the audience wanted and that's what the audience got!

Jazz guitarist Jim is joining John for ARC season finale

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AWARD-winning international guitarist Jim Douglas will join John Petters Swing Band for the final jazz session of the season at St John's ARC in Old Harlow next week.

Born in 1942 in Gifford near Edinburgh, Jim developed a taste for jazz music while at school.

Bitten by the skiffle bug, he bought himself a guitar and eventually appeared in a talent show which resulted in a trip to London.

After cutting his professional teeth in German jazz clubs, Jim joined the Clyde Valley Stompers with whom he had a hit version of Peter and The Wolf.

He then joined the Alex Welsh Band which rocketed him to international fame.

As the leading jazz ensemble of its kind, the Welsh band was selected to accompany many of the influential American jazz soloists and before long Jim found himself play alongside New Orleans trumpet legend, Henry 'Red' Allen, a performance which was filmed for the top BBC show Jazz 625.

After Welsh's premature death, Jim freelanced and appeared in successful touring jazz shows such as Let's Do It and Lady Sings the Blues. He has also won the 'Best Guitarist' accolade at the British Jazz Awards.

As well as his great talent on the guitar, Jim is also considered by many to be a first class banjo player.

He has just published a book, Tunes, Tune & Travel-itis, which tells the story of his days on the road with the Alex Welsh Band.

Next Thursday's concert will also see talented young singer Brendan Gifford making his debut at the ARC. Brendan, 18, made his public debut with the John Petters Swing Band at the Stratford Festival two years ago to great acclaim.

Also performing as a special guest will be Harlow-based bassist Keith Donald.

>>> Next Thursday's concert at the ARC starts at 8pm. Tickets cost £10 and are available by calling (01279) 442447.

Theatrical setting for haunting readings of classic ghost stories

VICTORIA Hall Theatre enters into the spirit world tonight (Thursday) as Ghost Stories takes to the Old Harlow stage.

Audience members will be treated to an evening of classic and creepy tales including classics Whistle and I'll Come To You, My Lad by M.R. James and E.F. Benson's The Room In The Tower as well as more modern pieces including The Viewing by Edwina Moss.

The stories will be read by stalwarts Simone Perry, Bernard Moule, Caroline Petherbridge, Kate Milner and Paul Johnson.

Director Simon Mawdsley said: "This is the first time we have tried something like this at the theatre but it is something I have wanted to do for a long time."

"I think the theatre, being such an old, atmospheric building, is ideal for an evening of ghost stories on a cold and windy winter's evening."

The show is not suitable for young children and those of a nervous disposition but ghost lovers and those who like to be scared will love the nailbiting tension you can only get from a good ghost story.

>>> Ghost Stories opens at the Victoria Hall Theatre tonight (Thursday) until Saturday, November 23 at 8pm. Tickets are £11 (£9 concessions) and are available from www.victoriahalltheatre.ticketsource.co.uk or 0844 8700 887.

CBeebies presenter Cerrie brings magic to her show

FOLLOWING a sell-out Edinburgh Festival Fringe premiere, CBeebies presenter Cerrie Bunnell brings The Magical Playground to Harlow Playhouse.

This delightful new show is for children aged three-six and features a story inspired by Cerrie's own childhood.

Disabled Cerrie, pictured right, plays Liberty Rose who dreams of becoming a ballerina like her mother before her. But when she is told to wear a false arm for dancing lessons, Libby rebels and seeks escape in her favourite playroom.

Suddenly, the toys magically come to life around her. But will Libby's new friends be able to help her to become a famous ballerina?

Cerrie was named in The Observer's top 10 list of children's presenters, earning a favourable comparison with veteran television and radio presenter Valerie Singleton.

She also featured in The Guardian's list of the 100 most inspirational women where she received praise for tackling disability head on.

Alongside her work for CBeebies, Cerrie continues to make frequent television appearances on shows including The One Show, Celebrity Mastermind, Beauty and the Beast, The Wright Stuff, The Hour and Celebrity Eggheads.

She recently featured alongside other top television talent including Reggie Yates and Konnie Huq on Channel 4's Diverse Nation, a documentary celebrating the on-screen talent that showcase the UK's rich diversity. She is currently working on her first children's book Snowflakes.

>>> The Magical Playground is at the Playhouse on Saturday, with performances at 11.30am and 2.30pm. Tickets cost £12 and available from the box office on (01279) 431945.

Gardening gifts galore

WHAT do you give the gardener who has everything? Perhaps a luxurious back and neck massage to ease those endless hours of digging? Or perhaps a good manicure to file away grime from under the nails?

Let's face it though, not many gardeners actually do have everything, a garden always needs something new – which makes finding a gift this Christmas that little bit easier.

You don't have to go big – a few pretty plant labels in, say, slate or terracotta, a selection of seeds to keep them busy in the New Year, some stationery with fruit or veg patterns or simply a new pair of secateurs to help them through spring pruning may go down well.

There's a plethora of personalised gifts for the gardener – check out www.gettingpersonal.com for a selection of calendars, diaries, crates and even shed signs that can be personalised to feature the recipient's name.

If you're looking to replace bog standard basics with more stylish ones, consider a new watering can and matching plant pots from Fallen Fruits, which offers a pretty patterned set of a can and three plant pots for £20 (www.qvcuk.com or phone 0800 50 40 30).

Burgon & Ball also has stylish new ranges of forks, trowels, kneelers and other accessories, endorsed by the Royal

by Hannah Stephenson

Horticultural Society. I particularly like the Chrysanthemum pattern, taken from the striking illustration of Chrysanthemum 'Karashishi' by the Japanese artist K Hasegawa, dating from 1891 and taken from the RHS's Lindley Library.

The trowel and fork come in a beautiful box, featuring painted handles printed with the RHS logo and an engraving of the Gertrude Jekyll quote, 'The love of gardening is a seed once sown, that never dies' on the body of the trowel. Priced £19.95, they're available from all good garden centres, RHS plant centres and www.burgonandball.com.

Gardeners who want to match their stylish new tools may want to chuck out their old wellies in favour of some natty new Kew Sprig ankle wellies from Cath Kidston. They don't just look good, they are snug too, whether on the allotment, trudging through the snow or on their way to a summer festival. Made of rubber with a cotton inner, priced £35 in sizes 4-8, for stockist details visit www.cathkidston.com.

For new vegetable gardeners Mr Fothergill's Get Growing range of seeds (£1.60 - £3.15) and kits, including herb pots (£1.49), starter collection boxes (£8.49) and mini window sill propagator kits (£3.29) will make ideal stocking-fillers. For details go to www.mr-fothergills.co.uk.

For those who might want to attract wildlife to their garden, tell them to put the new BeeMat on their Christmas list. It's a biodegradable, pre-seeded growing mat containing mixed flower seeds which aim to attract bees, including verbena, Californian poppy and borage among other varieties, and is available to plant from spring. As well as providing colour, the mat will also suppress weeds. For stockists visit www.beemat.com or call (01476) 530374.

If you know a gardener who gets peckish while working in the garden, a selection of luxury biscuits in quirky tubes of 'Keep Calm' gardening themes may weighs around 2lbs – that's a lot of cheese for a kit costing £19.99.

A sure-fire win for any gardener is an annual pass with the National Trust (www.nationaltrust.org.uk) to allow visitors to wallow in inspirational gardens, or an RHS membership (www.rhs.org.uk) which includes free garden visits, discounted show tickets and a monthly magazine. If they want to just increase their knowledge, opt for membership of Garden Organic (www.gardenorganic.org.uk) for access to specialist advice, reduced costs to join its Heritage Seed Library and free entry to RHS gardens.

Appetite for destruction

THE HUNGER GAMES: CATCHING FIRE
certificate 12A, 2h26m

BUILDING on the robust foundations of last year's opening salvo, Catching Fire is a lean and muscular sequel which strikes a pleasing balance between brawn and brains.

Director and scriptwriters Michael Arndt and Simon Beaufoy aren't in a hurry to bludgeon us with bloodshed and savagery. Instead they invest precious time in developing sinewy emotional bonds between characters and light the fuse on civil unrest that will explode in the concluding chapter.

The film opens with resilient heroine Katniss Everdeen (Jennifer Lawrence) back in District 12, hunting alongside her beau, Gale Hawthorne (Liam Hemsworth). They steal a kiss in secret before Katniss returns to the Victors' Village to continue her fake romance with Peeta Mellark (Josh Hutcherson) for the cameras. President

Snow (Donald Sutherland) is waiting for her. "I think we'll make this whole situation a lot simpler by agreeing not to lie to each other," growls Snow, who threatens Gale's life if Katniss steps out of line.

Flanked by booze-sodden mentor Haymitch Abernathy (Woody Harrelson) and sartorially daring escort Effie Trinket (Elizabeth Banks), Katniss and Peeta tour the districts, scenting rebellion in the air.

Meanwhile, Snow recruits a new Games creator, Plutarch Heavensbee (Philip Seymour Hoffman), to stage a special anniversary tournament known as the Quarter Quell, which will pit the darlings of District 12 against former winners in the ultimate duel of death.

In the arena, Katniss and Peeta risk everything once again to keep each other alive, forging alliances with cocksure Finnick Odair (Sam Claflin) and his elderly mentor Mags (Lynn Cohen), quixotic duo Beetee (Jeffrey Wright) and Wiress (Amanda Plummer) and rabble-rousing loose cannon Johanna Mason (Jena Malone).

Running six minutes longer than the first film, Catching Fire whets the appetite for a devastating final stand. The script turns up the heat on the central love triangle to a brisk simmer, while Lawrence and Hutcherson expertly navigate their characters' conflicting emotions.

With an extra $50m in the sequel's budget, production design doesn't disappoint and costume designer Trish Summerville pulls out the stops for Effie's wacky wardrobe, including a dress festooned with monarch butterflies.

Most of the violence in the arena takes place off screen but as the cliffhanger ending of the sequel makes clear, before every storm there is a lull.

Take a deep breath... while you still can.

THE FAMILY

certificate 15, 1h51m

The family that slays together stays together - with a degree of reluctance - in Luc Besson's twisted black comedy. The family in question comprises of Fred (Robert De Niro), his long-suffering wife Maggie (Michelle Pfeiffer) and their teenage children Belle (Dianna Agron) and Warren (John D'Leo), who arrive at their new ramshackle home in the dead of night.

It transpires that the exhausted quartet are the Manzoni from Brooklyn, who have been placed in witness protection under the supervision of FBI handler Robert Stansfield (Tommy Lee Jones) and his stooges, detectives Cicco (Jimmy Palumbo) and Caputo (Domenick Lombardozzi).

Giovanni snatched on fellow mobster Don Luchese (Stan Carp) and his family has been on the run ever since, moving from one location to the next to avoid a shallow grave.

certificate 15, 1h34m

On November 22, 1963 America recoiled at news that President John F Kennedy had been fatally shot during a visit to Texas.

Writer-director Peter Landesman dramatises events before, during and after the fateful motorcade through the eyes of men and women whose paths intersected with the Kennedys on that autumn day.

Shortly after Abraham Zapruder (Paul Giamatti) captures on camera the moment the bullet strikes, Secret Service agent Forrest Sorrels (Billy Bob Thornton) races Kennedy to Parkland Hospital where surgical resident Dr Charles Carrico (Zac Efron) and nurse Doris Nelson (Marcia Gay Harden) face an impossible task on the operating table.

Elsewhere, Robert Oswald (James Badge Dale) races to the police station where his younger brother Lee Harvey (Jeremy Strong) has been arrested, and their mother Marguerite (Jacki Weaver) spews venom to any news outlet that will listen.

And in the Dallas division of the FBI, Special Agent Gordon Shanklin (David Harbour) learns that one of his men, James Hosty (Ron Livingston), ignored a letter from Lee Harvey sent prior to the shooting.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
You might finally make that decision you've been thinking about for some time, as Mercury passes over Saturn and forges ahead. Perhaps all the pieces of the puzzle will come together and you'll know what to do next. Later, a Sun Uranus link might coincide with a desire to explore new and exciting opportunities, and it can feel really enlightening. Call for more astral advice...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Once you decide you're going to be friends with someone, conversation may get things off to a great start. With some very pleasant Mercury, Venus and Jupiter connections shining through, feelings of warmth and trust may help any relationship to be revealed in its best light - encouraging greater compatibility and co-operation. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
Mercury meets with Saturn for the third and final time since its retrograde phase ended, suggesting that you may make an important choice and be determined to stick with it and finally, you can get on your way! Later, the cosmos may have a surprise in store, as a Sun Uranus link could bring a gift that helps you explore an exciting offer. Call for more news and advice...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
If you've been feeling confused, the way can now become much clearer, especially regarding a relationship issue or creative project. This week's influences could also bring about a certainty that might dispel doubt and enable you to move ahead more confidently. Connections with those around you can have a natural glow, suggesting good things are set to come your way. Call for more...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
You may now have a plan that you're far more comfortable about putting into action. Why? Well, this week's influences highlight some positive associations that encourage communication, feedback and constructive exchanges. Yet conversely, the Sun Uranus Trine might get you thinking about an opportunity to expand your horizons and seek new adventures. Call for more...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
A Quarter Moon in your sign suggests that it's time to let go of an issue which may have been getting to you - and move onto new vistas. A Mercury Saturn link may be another indicator of the same. Overall, you might be more willing to trust another's feedback and input. This can have the affect of helping to foster better relationships with key people. Call for more news...

Libra 24 Sept - 23 Oct
You may settle for an idea that seems to be the best of the lot, bringing peace of mind after a time of wondering or worrying. This week, gathering information, planning and budgeting may be ways in which you can make the best use of the resources you have at hand. Yet, a bright scheme suggested by a friend could really fire you up. Call for your financial scope in full...

Scorpio 24 Oct - 22 Nov
Clarity and thoughtful communication seem to be highlighted this week. This is because there is a chance to get the support of friends and key people in your life, as well as being able to enhance your own prospects. A positive Venus Jupiter link can coincide with an opportunity that you can't resist. When it comes to money, try not to splurge too much. Scorpio. Call for more...

Sagittarius 23 Nov - 22 Dec
Subtle, intuitive insights that may not be fully formed in your mind, may become more important. Sometimes you can be very factually based, but if you tune into these, it can help you to speed ahead with a plan or project. Later, a restless feeling could encourage you to get involved in sports activities or to opt for an exciting holiday destination. Call for more...

Capricorn 22 Dec - 20 Jan
Convivial chat and the chance to be open with friends, a love interest or partner, may be the reason why fun social events and other plans come together so well this week. Though you may have responsibilities within a group or community situation, attending to them may lead to positive developments that prove to be very much worth exploring. Call for more advice...

Aquarius 21 Jan - 19 Feb
After recent delays, a Mercury Saturn conjunction, can indicate a more progressive phase. Making decisions will get easier, and you may encounter less perceived opposition from those in positions of influence. Fruitful conversations could pave the way for a key achievement - plus a friend might introduce you to someone you really sync with. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Pisces 20 Feb - 20 Mar
Sometimes your mind can wander, but total commitment to one hope can help to get you off to a flying start this week, especially if you're starting a class or study program, or are taking on a challenge. Keep friends and family in the loop, as this may give them a chance to relay some positive feedback. Later, a spur-of-the-moment offer could result in a windfall. Call for more...

All Saints Nazeing Appeal to build a Girls Ophanage in Kenya

Although we succeeded in raising over £9,000, after much deliberation and discussion with the Archdeacon and the Diocese the PCC has reluctantly concluded that we cannot bring the project to fruition.

We are grateful to our generous supporters. It is proposed that the money raised will be donated to a similar Christian project endorsed by the Archdeacon of West Ham. 'Grace's Place' aims to build premises to teach young people in Kenya to read. Any donor having any objection to this proposal or requiring further details please contact Mrs Wendy Weir by January 1st 2014 on 01992 89 3167 (24hr answerphone).

Tracey Waples Property Editor

I REGULARLY drive past a beautiful old house and over the past few years have seen it slip further and further into disrepair.

Now all I notice as I drive by is the crumbling plasterwork and peeling paint rather than its stunning architecture.

No-one wants to see a home that isn't well maintained. On-going upkeep is more crucial than ever, with buyers reluctant to sign up for unknown repair bills.

We all know the problems associated with escalating costs – what starts out as a £100 job can escalate into a £5,000 repair if left unattended. Keeping on top of a property and doing little jobs as they become necessary is always worth it.

Prevention is always better than cure. Regular maintenance of your home is less intrusive and expensive than letting it decay and having to fix it from the bottom up again.

Now is a good time to carry out work before the serious winter weather takes hold. Clean out gutters, make sure drain holes are clear and airbricks clean.

Also, ensure your roof is watertight, re-fix slipped or missing tiles and remove anything that shouldn't be growing in the masonry. Leaving these items unrepaired will result in frost damage and allow damp to penetrate.

Use a hand mirror to look behind rainwater pipes where splits and cracks in old cast iron and aluminium often occur and are not easily noticed. Fit bird or leaf guards to the tops of soil pipes and rainwater outlets to prevent blockage. Have gutters re-fixed if they are sloping the wrong way or discharging water on to the ground.

Good maintenance is important even if you aren't planning to sell.

On the market for £1,395,000

DATING back to the turn of the 19th century, Parsonage Farm is a delightful country home with its own moat and grounds of around 10 acres about four miles south-east of Saffron Walden.

The generous accommodation includes six bedrooms and four reception rooms.

A large gravel driveway provides ample parking and leads to a triple bay cart lodge and two-storey barn. There is also a further modern timber barn, log store, greenhouse and a garden store.

This property is on the market with Fine and Country. Call (01279) 757500 for full details.

To rent for £1,550 per month

LOCATED at Potter Street in Harlow - an ideal location for easy access to the M11 - this extremely spacious home is on the market to rent unfurnished.

Christmas 2013

Leading up to Christmas

ADVENT marks the beginning of the Christian year. It is the four weeks before Christmas beginning on November 30 or the nearest Sunday to it. This year it starts on Sunday December 1 and is the Church's New Year's Day.

The word Advent comes from the Latin 'adventus' which means 'arrival' or 'coming'. This time for Christians is a season of hope and the period of preparation for celebration of the birth of Jesus. They also look forward to the time that Jesus will come again.

The clergy usually wear purple or royal blue vestments in their churches during Advent. During Advent there are no flowers decorating the church, but it is customary to have an Advent Crown – also known as an Advent Wreath.

Advent Wreaths

The Advent wreath is a circular garland of evergreen branches representing eternity. On that wreath, five candles are typically arranged. During the season of Advent one candle on the wreath is lit each Sunday as a part of the Advent services. Each candle represents an aspect of the spiritual preparation for the coming of Jesus Christ.

Set on the branches of the wreath are four candles: three purple candles and one pink candle. In the centre of the wreath sits a white candle.

On the first Sunday of Advent, the first purple candle is lit.

This candle is typically called the "Prophecy Candle" in remembrance of the prophets, primarily Isaiah, who foretold the birth of Christ. This candle represents hope or expectation.

Each week on Sunday, an additional candle is lit. On the second Sunday of Advent, the second purple candle is lit. This candle typically represents love. Some traditions call this the "Bethlehem Candle," symbolizing Christ's manger.

On the third Sunday of Advent the pink or rose-coloured candle is lit. This pink candle is customarily called the "Shepherds' Candle" and it represents joy.

The fourth and last purple candle, oftentimes called the "Angels' Candle," represents peace and is lit on the fourth Sunday of Advent.

On Christmas Eve, the white centre candle is traditionally lit. This is called the "Christ Candle" and represents the life of Christ that has come into the world. The colour white represents purity. Also, those who receive Christ as Saviour are washed of their sins.

Drawing a chalk line to mark off the days, later lighting a candle every night or putting up small religious pictures marked each day until Christmas. The first printed calendar was produced by Gerhard Lang in Germany. When he was a child, his mother attached little candies to a piece of cardboard and each day Gerhard would take one off. His first printed calendar consisted of miniature coloured pictures that would be attached to a piece of cardboard each day in December. Later Advent calendars were made with little doors to open on each day. The child might find a small piece of candy, a Christmas picture, a religious picture or a bible verse.

The first Advent calendars were based on 24 days with Christmas Eve as the last night. Today, the traditional German calendars still show 24 days, but in the UK, it's not uncommon to also find ones with 25 days with the last opening on Christmas Day.

Advent Calendars can be found everywhere. Christmas is celebrated and have been made with many different themes. There are permanent ones with little drawers that are opened every day, felt pieces to decorate a tree, religious icons behind the different doors and lots of pop-culture/character Advent calendars. The traditional ones are still a paper/cardboard piece with a small treasure behind the doors.

Advent Calendars

Advent Calendars have been used for more than 150 years and become increasingly popular every year. From traditional calendars to calendars with chocolate treats featuring popular TV stars, there is a calendar for all tastes!

The origin of the calendar, like so many of our Christmas traditions, started in Germany in the 19th century. Different methods of counting down the days to the celebration of Christmas were used.

Christmas 2013

What it all means...

THE word Christmas (or Christ's Mass) comes from the Old English name 'Cristes Maesse' – Christ's Mass – and is the celebration of the birth of Jesus. The first recorded observance occurred in Rome in AD360, but it wasn't until AD440 that the Christian Church fixed a celebration date of 25 December.

Although Christmas is celebrated on the 25th December, in the run up to the day itself we send cards, watch nativity plays and go to carol services. Christmas decorations, which were once only put up in our homes and churches on Christmas Eve now start appearing as early as October and November. It's hard to believe that many people once thought it was extremely unlucky to bring evergreens, the traditional item to decorate homes, into the house before December 24.

Red and green are the traditional colours of Christmas.

Green represents the continuance of life through the winter and the Christian belief in eternal life and red symbolizes the blood that Jesus shed at His Crucifixion. People also hang greenery around the house, such as holly and ivy. The needle like points of holly leaves are thought to resemble the crown of thorns that Jesus wore when He was crucified. The red berries symbolise the drops of blood He shed.

It is considered unlucky if you don't take your decorations down before the end of the 12th Day of Christmas, on January 5. This custom has been around since the reign of Queen Victoria. Up until the 19th Century, people would keep their decorations of holly, ivy, box, yew, laurel and mistletoe up until February 2, Candlemas Day, the end of the Christmas season, 40 days after the birth of Jesus.

Robert Herrick in his poem 'Ceremonies for Candlemas Eve' wrote:

Down with the rosemary and bays,

Down with the mistletoe;
Instead of holly,
now up-raise

The greener box
(for show).

In fact many of our Christmas customs began long before Jesus was born. They came from earlier festivals which had nothing to do with the Christian church. Long ago people had mid-winter festivals when the days were shortest and the sunlight weakest. They believed that their ceremonies would give the sun back its power. The Romans, for example, held the festival of Saturnalia around December 25. They decorated their homes with evergreens to remind them of Saturn, their harvest god, to return the following spring.

Some of these customs and traditions were adopted by early Christians as part of their celebrations of Jesus' birthday. In Victorian times some new ideas such as Father Christmas, Christmas cards and crackers were added to the celebrations.

Christmas 2013

Keep calm it's only Christmas!

WITH a little foresight, communication, and planning, Christmas can be a great deal more enjoyable than the usual frantic last minute rush that it becomes for many of us. It can be much more fun because you can do the things you really want to do and ignore the rest. You can plan in advance those things that take a bit more time, and then thoroughly enjoy the process because you're not rushed.

Why not make this year the year you do have a stress free Christmas with a little forward planning?

Before you open the mulled wine or make yourself a gingerbread latte or even think about pulling up a chair in from of It's A Wonderful Life, why not spend some time drawing up a Christmas budget?

Hopefully you've been planning your presents for a while and might even have been saving a little each month. But if you're now starting to panic about where the money will come from, just remember, you really don't need to spend vast amounts to have a great Christmas.

Think back to your favourite holiday memories as a child. How many of them involve an expensive toy or an amazing holiday vacation? The chances are your best memories are probably those that involve the annual movie with your family or a fun walk wrapped up against the elements. Christmas is much more about relationships than gifts. That's not to say you shouldn't be generous and enjoy giving but don't despair if you've got less to spend than you'd like. It'll still be a great Christmas! Make a decision to limit the amount of gifts you give. If your extended family won't budge when it comes to gift-giving, perhaps you can suggest only homemade gifts, or set a low price limit per gift.

If you considered getting all your Christmas shopping, wrapping and perhaps even the decorations done at least a few weeks ahead of the big day this would free up your time for the cooking!

If you haven't already done so, start your menu planning now and ensure that you follow your Christmas menu check lists meticulously. Maybe pre-cook some of your dishes and freeze them.

Don't be afraid to ask for extra help either. An extra pair of hands or two will definitely allow you to enjoy the entire experience more. Cooking together can also be a good time for bonding with children and friends. For example, why not allocate each helper a specific role. This way, you will have time to enjoy yourself and entertain your guests at the same time.

Another advantage to meal planning is that you won't end up with excessive waste. Often there is far too much food and as a result, far too many leftovers.

Make a list of the dishes you'll serve and the ingredients you'll need.

If you plan ahead, it will cut down on the work you need to do at the last minute.

As part of your planning, consider how many dinner guests there will be. Sketch out a timeline of what you can prepare four to five days in advance, and then do your grocery shopping a week ahead of time. This way, you'll limit the things you need to purchase at the last minute.

If a recipe calls for fresh ingredients where frozen ingredients can also be used then consider using frozen vegetables. Dishes such as cranberry or bread sauce can also be made in advance and kept in the fridge.

If you're feeling really organised why not label you're serving dishes ahead of time to ensure you have the right sized baking dish for each menu item. Once you have decided on your menu, think about which serving pieces to use for each dish, and mark them with sticky notes.

A little forward planning goes a long way – try it and see!

Christmas 2013

Dress the perfect Christmas table

If you're having guests over for Christmas dinner this year make it extra special by creating the perfect Christmas dining table.

From preparing your table in advance, to adding the perfect finishing touches with pretty Christmas decorations and keepsakes, your table is your showcase for presenting your celebratory meal so make sure it's up to the job!

But before you add your Christmas table decorations, make sure you've covered the basics. . .

If your dining room isn't long enough for an extended table, moving it to a long hallway could be the answer. Or use the living room, with the Christmas tree and presents on display; it's a festive and informal place to eat.

If you need more room, create a table extension with a garden table placed at one end. Picnic and trestle tables are also good makeshift extensions. If you're really stuck use a sheet of MDF placed on top of a smaller table, with batons screwed onto the bottom to stop it from sliding. Don't forget to check that your table cloth is long enough.

Comfortable seating during Christmas dinner is a must, so make sure you've got enough suitable chairs. If it's a squeeze, benches or stools are ideal as they take up less space.

Think about your table plan in advance. Christmas lunch can last for several hours, so you could suggest that a few guests move places after the main course so everyone has the chance to talk to someone different at pudding. Hand-written place cards add a personal touch.

Most tables need protecting from hot dishes and spills. Rubberised protectors can be slipped under the tablecloth. If you aren't using a tablecloth, place heatproof mats along the table for hot serving dishes.

For shimmer and sparkle, buy inexpensive tree decorations, such as small baubles or glittery stars, and place them in bowls along the table, alongside co-ordinating napkins and a tablecloth.

A festive decoration in the centre of the table always adds a little extra glamour. For a traditional, Christmas look, mix holly branches – complete with berries – with ivy and other greenery in a low vase or a group of small plant pots. Or if you want a more modern Christmas table, bunch glass candles in the centre of the table and surround their base with sparkling silver foliage.

Place an individual tiny table present at each place setting. To make the shopping easier, buy the same item for all the men and something different for all the women, or organise it by age, with all the children receiving the same gift. Alternatively, ask everyone to contribute to an inexpensive gift for an anonymous Secret Santa.

Christmas 2013

Remembering loved ones

Isabel Hospice and St Clare Hospice will once again be remembering loved ones who won't be with us this Christmas with special ceremonies across our region.

ST Clare's Light up a Life is a very special annual event and a chance to remember and celebrate the lives of the people you love, and pay tribute to the incredible support St Clare offers to patients and their families. This year, there are nine services across the local area to celebrate the lives of those no longer with us. Each service will provide an opportunity for you to reflect and share fond memories at what can be a very difficult time of year.

You are invited to join your local community and be part of your nearest Light up a Life service to remember someone special. The lights on the Christmas tree, which represent the lives of your loved ones, are a wonderful way for you to honour their memory. Many people find this group tribute a positive and even healing experience. Everyone who makes a dedication will receive a beautiful card which includes your dedication names.

Each dedication will be inscribed into the Book of Remembrance which is available to look at throughout the year here the hospice; a copy of the book will also be available on St Clare's website.

During the Lights of Love events for Isabel Hospice there will be a short service of remembrance, carol singing and a countdown to the lighting of the tree. You will also be able to take home a small star to keep and hang on your own Christmas tree.

Names will be entered for each ceremony in a Book of Love, which can be viewed before, or immediately after the service. The Book of Love will then be on display until January at the nearest hospice shop to the ceremony.

The events are taking place across the community and give you a very special opportunity to reflect and share fond memories of your loved ones at this poignant time of year. The events are open to everyone; you don't have to have experienced hospice care.

Thorn Grove Primary School is hosting its Christmas Fayre on Sunday, December 8 from 2pm to 5pm where there will be a Santa's grotto, singing performances, stalls, games, bar, food and an amazing laser show. Everyone is welcome.

LAKESIDE Christmas Carols will be held by the lake at Hatfield Forest on Saturday, December 21 from 2.30pm to 3.30pm. Join in the festive fun with mulled wine and mince pies to keep you warm.

CHRISTMAS comes to Much Hadham on Sunday December 1 with its annual fete which will be held at Hopleys Plants in the village High Street as well as Much Hadham Village Hall between 12 and 6pm.

Once again there will be a variety of stallholders at what promises to be an afternoon of festive fun for all ages.

Buntingford

BUNTINGFORD'S 2013 Christmas event will be held on Friday November 29 and combines the annual Lights of Love ceremony and Late Night Shopping evening. This year there will also be the official switching on of the Christmas lights in Buntingford – said by many to be the best around!

The evening starts in the grounds of The Manor House with the lighting of the Lights of Love Tree in aid of the Isabel Hospice at 6pm. Traditional carols are sung in this special ceremony.

A grand Turismo

THE new SsangYong Turismo arrives in the UK almost without competition.

At more than 5m long and with a 3m wheelbase, it is larger than a standard-sized MPV such as the Ford Galaxy, Renault Grand Scenic or SEAT Alhambra, yet is a car rather than a van-derived 'people carrier' like the Hyundai i800, Mercedes Viano or VW Caravelle.

Consequently, its huge interior space and flexible passenger and load-carrying capability means it can carry seven adults and 875 litres of luggage through to two adults and 3,146 litres of load space, with seven optional passenger-and-load combinations to choose from.

Designed to appeal as family, leisure and business transportation, the Turismo blends multi-role flexibility with great ride comfort and the appointments and equipment levels of a luxury saloon.

"With prices starting from £17,995, there really is nothing like it in the market," says Paul Williams, CEO of SsangYong Motor UK.

"With its innovative and flexible design layout, luxurious interior and highly competitive pricing, the new Turismo is a compelling proposition. Not only do you get a lot of car for the money, you also have the reassurance of an industry-leading 5-year limitless mileage warranty for complete peace of mind."

SsangYong's designers went to great lengths to create a distinctive, innovative look to satisfy owners and opinion formers alike. The brief was to create a practical yet luxurious and dignified tone that would blend well with the car's numerous roles. Combining strength with volume, the front of the car has a robust stance thanks to its hexagonal-shaped radiator grille and trapezoidal bumper, and the overall design disguises its large exterior size.

Thanks to the car's 3m wheelbase, seven adults can travel in supreme comfort with their luggage in the back without having to compromise on passenger accommodation. There are three rows of seats as well as a large load space which can be increased by removing the third row. The second row provides convenient 'walk through' access to the third and can be folded individually and used as tables while still providing sufficient space to accommodate airline-style seat-back folding tables.

The Turismo is powered by SsangYong's own 2.0-litre turbo-charged e-XDi200 diesel engine offering a level of performance and noise, vibration and harshness control that has been tested, proven and praised in the marketplace.

The engine offers maximum power of 155PS/4,000rpm and maximum torque of 360Nm/1,500-2,800rpm, and is designed to provide low-end torque whatever the conditions on or off road.

There's a choice of 6-speed manual transmission and 5-speed Mercedes-Benz T-Tronic automatic transmission, ensuring world-class durability, smooth gear-changing performance and quiet operation.

The Turismo utilises double wishbone front suspension and rear independent multi-link suspension for executive saloon-style ride quality.

It features a comprehensive package of active safety features, including Electronic Stability

Program (ESP), Active Rollover Protection (ARP) and Brake Assist System (BAS).

There are dual front and side airbags, while ISO-Fix and tether anchorage points for child seats are fitted on the second row.

Passive safety is further increased thanks to two high-strength sub-frames fitted to the front and rear of the car. These help to disperse any impact shocks from a collision and protect passengers by minimising cabin distortion.

The Turismo delivers a high level of comfort and convenience. Air con, electrically operated and heated door mirrors, a leather-covered steering wheel and gear knob, and an MP3 CD and RDS radio with a USB and auxiliary port and Bluetooth connectivity feature across the range.

From the ES model, leather upholstery, electrically adjustable driver's seat, heated front seats and rear parking sensors also feature. The EX gets a heated windscreen to prevent the wipers from freezing, solar-controlled glass and rain sensitive wipers to make driving easier, while eco cruise control is standard on the ES automatic and EX.

The Turismo is available in five exterior colours: wine black, black, gunmetal grey, silver and white.

A personal used car service with 20 Years main dealer experience

BUY IN CONFIDENCE FROM AN RAC PARTNER DEALER

There's a great new place in Hertford to buy a used car. Established in January this year, family-owned Noble Cars may be a new dealership but it's backed by 20 years main dealer experience which gives the team behind the business a true understanding of customer service. Two decades of vehicle retailing expertise also ensures that when it comes to selecting used cars for stock, only the highest quality used vehicles are chosen.

The aim at Noble Cars is to deliver high quality used cars at the lowest possible price levels whilst not forgetting attention to detail and still providing an enjoyable buying experience. The team's knowledge of the industry, much of which has been gained through employment at respected main dealers, enables them to do just that.

When it comes to choice and variety Noble Cars offers a fine selection of affordably priced cars covering most areas of the market. Prices start from just under £1,000 and stretch up to around £10,000. What's more, Noble Cars is authorised by Motability which gives them access to more than 2,000 low mileage, superbly maintained, one owner cars that can be quickly supplied to you.

Noble Cars' management team have worked closely with the RAC for many years, and as a result, they've forged an excellent relationship with this respected motoring organisation. As an RAC Partner Dealer, all vehicles come with reassuringly comprehensive RAC Warranty cover and a Breakdown Assistance Package. For further assurance cars are HPI history checked and subjected to a comprehensive quality and safety inspection prior to sale.

At Noble Cars, they have a wealth of motor financing experience enabling them to work with some of the best names in motor finance, namely Santander, Motonovo and Close Motor Finance. All three companies provide highly competitive finance packages and the team have access to a range of options to suit virtually every customer. They can also arrange '7-day Driveaway' insurance allowing you to buy a vehicle on virtually the same day you see it. Part exchange is also welcome and payment through most major debit and credit cards is accepted.

The Noble Cars team live in Hertford and are very much involved with the local community. They are delighted by the way things have gone for their local family business since January and would like to thank our car buyers for the support.

Why not call (01992) 503535 or log onto www.NOBLE-CARS.co.uk to find out more. Best of all visit Noble Cars on Bengoe Street, Hertford SG14 3EY, and look forward to a friendly welcome.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).
 Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Karate club's medal bonanza at Leisurezone

EIGHT gold medals were won by members of Harlow Shotokan Karate Club who took part in the annual SKE Championships, held at the Harlow Leisurezone on Saturday.

Six silver and six bronze medals were also secured after some fantastic performances from the club, which trains at Burnt Mill Academy in Harlow.

The event attracted around 250 competitors.

Emily Thorpe also won the award for best female competitor of the day.

Club instructor, Erik Thorpe said: "It really was a day to celebrate for the club. I was really pleased with the effort put in by every single member of the team. We took a smaller squad than in previous competitions, but still managed to display some great karate to the judges. Our club spirit really is second to none, and the team always rises to the occasion."

The competition held a variety of kata (forms) events, and kumite (sparring) for all grades of student.

Zaya Maertens won the kata

Team hit top spot after another win

HARLOW Volleyball Club continued their winning streak by triumphing by three sets to one against Brentwood.

The team now top the Essex League table.

Coach Ilia Kalanov said: "It was our most difficult match so far and I am really happy we have won it. In this match we have showed more of our abilities and in deciding moments played with confidence with really good skills. We had a very good reception which allowed us to be successful in attack."

"We were leading 2-0 in sets and lost the third. In the middle of the fourth set after we allowed them to catch us we reduced our mistakes and showed better skills and character and played really well to win the match."

Duo's arrival can ignite Ashley's Town campaign

THE signing of talented ex-Hertfordshire and Saffron Walden star Neil Gladwin plus former Sawbridgeworth skipper Joe Holland has surely made Harlow Town Cricket Club's first team favourites for promotion next season, writes DAVID RIMMER.

Captain Ashley Alderson is excited about Holland and Gladwin turning out for his men in the 2014 season.

Alderson made an excellent fist of his first stint of captaincy as he led the team to seventh place in the Shepherd Neame Essex League division three, in a tight league in which only 26 points separated them from the runners-up.

He admitted he had offered the captaincy to prodigal son Gladwin, returning to his cricketing roots, but the 35-year-old wants Alderson to continue his excellent progress in stewarding the side.

Gladwin, the son of club president Martin Gladwin, has been a top wicket-keeper and is an effective middle order batsman.

His former Saffron Walden team-mate Holland will help the first team, who will surely now be favourites for promotion to division two after two seasons in division three since joining the league.

The pair played for Saffron Walden who previously won the Shepherd Neame Essex League premier division title.

Gladwin and Holland played at Sawbridgeworth together before they went to Walden.

They were in the Walden team that won the National Knockout Cup back in 2002.

Holland, who turns 34 in January, said: "My wife [Maxine] runs classes at Harlow Town [for young children] and they have been very helpful to her. It's a family club and it's a good fit for me."

"The club wants to go places. I had been at Sawbridgeworth [2010 and 2011] after Walden, but the commitment was too heavy in terms of the all day cricket and training, with a young family and the job I had."

"I would like to pass on some of the expertise that I got from Saffron Walden from the likes of Steve Plumb and Giles Ecclestone [both respected top cricketers]."

(Pic: Alan Scott)

A livewire in the field and a devastating middle order batsman when in form, Holland will add much to the team.

Gladwin played for Harlow Town when the club was known as Stort, before he went to Sawbridgeworth.

He was also a good enough wicket-keeper to have played at second team level on the county circuit, for Warwickshire, Derbyshire and Essex between 2003 and 2005.

But he does not plan to keep wicket at Harlow Town as he has had back problems. This role will stay with Pat Yates.

Gladwin explained: "The back hurt so much when I got up on a Sunday after playing for Saffron Walden last season, and Pat Yates is a good 'keeper."

"I am not going to play cricket for a living and I always said I would come back. Now is a good time to come back. I am looking forward to it and at four or five I can help to stabilise it [the batting]."

He added: "It will be good fun. The guys are all quite young. I want to help them get up the leagues."

"You might have four at a net session at Saffron Walden, but they could get away with it, but with Harlow you have 30."

The duo's arrival will also strengthen the other teams as better players drop down to play for the twos, three and fours, who came close to promotion last term.

Club chairman Stuart Alderson said: "Their experience of playing at the highest level of club cricket, coupled with the young and exciting talent we have available will undoubtedly generate a lot of buzz and excitement, let's hope it also bring some success."

Hawks second after two victories

TWO wins out of two in the space of six days has certainly ignited Harlow Hawks' promotion ambitions in division two of the Herts Basketball League.

Shab Niaz's men followed up their narrow 84-82 victory at Herts Warriors with a 61-42 thumping of Hatfield Magic on Monday.

Hawks only led 29-28 at Magic at half-time, despite Lee Morris giving the side a great start with five early points.

The end of the third quarter was decisive as Harlow went on an 18-2 run in the last six minutes.

Points came from across the team, including Rimantas Norkelinas, Sam Kmita, Russ Allan, Russ Stonehouse, Stuart Burgess, plus a three pointer from Roan Lenihan for the last basket of the quarter.

Rimantas Norkelinas scored five of the 11 points in the fourth quarter and other baskets came from Tom White, Roan Lenihan and Steve Martin as Harlow completed a comprehensive win.

At Herts Warriors, Morris scored all Hawks' 10 points in the first four minutes including two three pointers.

The match was tight throughout though, but crucial scores from Russ Stonehouse and Rimantas Norkelinas kept the Hawks narrowly in the lead.

Harlow are second in the table.

Heroic defending secures win

SOME heroic late defending with only 14 players earned Harlow Ladies a narrow 12-10 win at Chelmsford Ladies in the National Challenge South East League division one north.

In windy and wet conditions on Sunday, Harlow scored an unconverted try on 10 minutes when skipper and fly-half Sarah Stimpson whizzed around the outside to score out wide.

Ten minutes later outside centre Emma O'Donnell broke through several defenders to run more than half the length of the pitch to score under the posts, Stimpson converted.

With the slope in their favour after the break, Chelmsford ran in two unconverted tries after utilising their large squad.

Harlow's Jen Tennant was yellow-carded for offside with 15 minutes left but Harlow defended superbly.

A well-kicked ball put Harlow under pressure, resulting in a 5m scrum to Chelmsford. After several phases they drove over the line but Harlow full-back Nichola Shrambrook held the ball up as the whistle blew, enabling the Rams to hold onto a great win.

This put Harlow into fourth. HARLOW: Boggas, Snell, Wooller, Rochester, Lee, Wood, McCarthy, Dixon, Smith, Stimpson, Tennent, Steel, O'Donnell, Rand, Shrambrook. Subs: Hunter, Marshall, Bryant.

Cricket club deliver captaincy shake-up

BY DAVID RIMMER

david.rimmer@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW era is being ushered in at Harlow Cricket Club after the departure of key player Andy McGarry and chairman and first team manager Mike Boyers, while Luke Heskett has lost the first team captaincy.

Rehman Ahmed has replaced his friend Heskett as skipper. Heskett had been captain for two seasons, helping the team to promotion from division two.

Bowler Heskett will stay at Marigolds as a first team player, while club president Alan Howick has stepped into the breach to fill the role of chairman for the 2014 season only.

It will be Howick's third spell as chairman. He first landed this role in 1983 and in later years ran the cricket club at the same time as he co-owned Harlow Town Football Club.

Former Essex county player McGarry has quit to join local rivals Sawbridgeworth after three years at the Shepherd Neame Essex League club.

The appointment of Ahmed is an exciting one. The 27-year-old batsman has been vice-captain and his runs were a crucial reason why the team survived relegation from division one last season.

Commenting on Ahmed's appointment, Howick said: "He is a dynamic cricketer. I think he will create a little bit more professionalism [in the team] that perhaps Luke had lost."

"It was time for a change. He went as far as he could for his age. I think it's time for Luke to start enjoying his cricket again and re-establishing his skills without the pressure of captaincy."

ALL CHANGE: New skipper Rehman Ahmed, left, is replacing Luke Heskett, centre. Right, Andy McGarry has joined Sawbridgeworth

OFF the pitch, Harlow Cricket Club is close to landing a six-figure grant which will pay for a new clubhouse in the middle of the first and second pitches, in a south west location which will mean it is covered by the sun from dawn to dusk.

In its present location the clubhouse is in the shade every afternoon, leaving it in near darkness.

This year is the 241st anniversary of cricket being played in Harlow and the club has been based in its present location off Chippingfield for 150 years.

The new clubhouse will be an environmentally-friendly with huge solar panels.

President and chairman Alan Howick explained: "This project is very green. There will also be car parking for four teams. It will be a community asset. It will be open 52 weeks a year."

The businessman, co-owner of Old Harlow based Howick & Brooker Estate Agents, hopes construction of the clubhouse will be completed in 2015 once Harlow Council agree to revised plans.

The club have also approached Netteswell and Burnt Mill Cricket Club and asked them to use Marigolds as their permanent home.

"Rehman will be a great captain. Rehman will get the club ethos together which is starting to slide away a bit. Rehman is steely. He will not suffer fools gladly. He has a determination which is good for the club."

On Boyers' exit, Howick said:

"He found it difficult through ill health and his geographical location."

However, there are fears that some of the club's talented younger players could follow McGarry to Town Fields.

"It will be disappointing if he takes some of our boys," said Howick. "There's a good relationship between the two clubs."

Although talented youngsters Andre Riddell and Conor Ramsay are at university and will miss this season, the club hope to have Luke Monger back from a spell in Australia in time for the new campaign.

Heskett originally replaced Jason McNally in 2010, but has vowed to stay. He will also coach the club's 15 and 16-year-olds. "Luke will use his own skills down here which we are delighted about," enthused Howick.

Starlet Harry at Euro U-17s

YOUNG snooker star Harry Green is taking part in his biggest competition to date as he represents England in the European U-17 Championships in Malta.

The 16-year-old Harlow College student, who has played exhibition matches against the likes of I'm A Celebrity Get Me Out Of Here star Steve Davis and captained the England B team in a tournament last year, is competing outside the UK for the first time.

Though this event was invitational-only from the England coaching staff, he was invited because of his impressive performances over last year in the UK premier junior tour.

His dad Richard explained: "Harry will have to play at his best to qualify for the knockout stages at the end of this week. Currently they are in the round robin stage of the tournament. I know that he has played two matches and lost both at this time."

Harry's highest break in competition is 87, but he has struck 136 in practice. He is competing against players from Finland, Sweden and even Israel.

Left-back in fast Layne to Football League

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman believes left-back Layne Eadie is good enough to step up to the Football League in the future.

The Harlow Town boss has been delighted with the performances of 20-year-old ex-St Albans player Eadie, pictured right, who joined in September.

"Eadie has impressed me the most. For me he has got everything and he has a great chance of making progress in the game," said Chapman.

"He is dangerous in attacking situations but he can also defend," enthused the Hawks boss.

Chapman is also pleased that experienced former Leyton Orient and Barnet player Danny Brown has been able to put together a run of games.

"He has had a few injuries but he has been involved and it's really good to get him injury-free. He is playing in the midfield, which is where I wanted to play him."

Harlow host struggling Erith & Belvedere this Saturday and Chapman is looking to stretch the side's impressive unbeaten run to nine matches.

The Hawks dropped to sixth in the table because they did not have a game last weekend. But they are only three points off third spot.
